Police in southern Colorado are investigating the death of a woman whose body was found in a suitcase in the trash.

Pueblo police released surveillance video from early Thursday showing a man driving up next to the dumpster, taking an apparently heavy suitcase out of the trunk of the car and throwing it into the trash.

Authorities were called to the scene around 9:30 a.m. Thursday after people had concerns about what they saw inside of the dumpster.

"What they saw was what they thought was skin and what they thought was blood," Sgt. Frank Ortega, of Pueblo police, told KKTV. "But being this close to Halloween and stuff like that, you never know if it is real or not."

Two homicide suspects were taken into police custody Friday evening, KMGH-TV reported.

Police released photos of the woman's tattoos and asked for the public's help in identifying her.
